Stowe's Green Mountain Inn responds to rising gas prices by offering guests a Free Ride Home!

Stowe, Vermont – As gas prices continue to rise, savvy travelers are finding more creative approaches to planning their vacation. That's why some lodging establishments, such as the Green Mountain Inn in Stowe, are trying to lighten the financial burden by offering vacation packages that include a free ride home.

The Green Mountain Inn's Free Ride Home Package includes two nights lodging, continental breakfast daily and a $50 gas card. Package prices range from $98.50 per person, per night for standard rooms, to $138 per person, per night for the Inn's beautiful luxury suites, which include an in-room fireside Jacuzzi tub. These vacation packages also include tax and services.

"With gas prices continuing to rise, we want to offer the best possible value to our guests so they can enjoy their vacation without the worry," said Patti Clark, Innkeeper.

The Green Mountain Inn offers various other vacation packages throughout the summer season including a romance package, Bed & Breakfast package and a Golf package, to name a few.

About the Green Mountain Inn

This year The Green Mountain Inn is celebrating its 175th anniversary. The Inn began as a coaching inn for 19th-century travelers located in the heart of Stowe village. Stowe's original inn retains much of its antique charm offering 106 rooms, suites and townhouses. Guests enjoy two acclaimed restaurants, the Whip Bar & Grill and the Main Street Dining Room, specialty shops, a year-round heated outdoor pool, afternoon tea and cookies, health club facility, massage services and much more.
